

UNMANNED AIRSPACE

Weekly news bulletin – 7 May 2018

Please read the following announcement

On 25 May this year, the new Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) enters into force throughout the European Union. GDPR aims to protect all our personal data against unauthorized use. In order for UnmannedAirspace to continue to send newsletters to you, we need your approval to store your personal information in the form of names, email address and, in some cases, professional titles in our newsletter system. If you wish to be removed and no longer receive the newsletter, please send us a message “unsubscribe” to email address newsletter@unmannedairspace.info before May 25, 2018. If you still want to receive our newsletter you don't have to do anything.

UAS traffic management system news

Gryphon Sensors, Raytheon to supply systems to New York State's UTM research programme

Altitude Angel adds regulatory, ATM experience to its senior team

Xpotential 2018 news – A round-up of UTM technology announcements

Xpotential 2018 news Consortiq launches Assuretech to guarantee compliance with drone rules

Xpotential 2018 news PrecisionHawk “develops first BVLOS enabled drone platform”

Xpotential 2018 news: Kittyhawk to work with Jeppesen on faster LAANC authorization

Rockwell Collins demonstrates “fail-safe BVLOS UTM data link communications”

Singapore Civil Aviation Authority asks public for views on new drone laws

FAA begins nationwide beta-testing LAANC programme

FAA Reauthorization Act opens door to establishing UTM regulatory provisions

UTM and C-UAS market analysis

“Global UAV sense and avoid market will reach USD3.6 billion by 2022” – New BIS report

Counter-UAS systems and policies

Department 13 signs C-UAS distribution deal with South Korea's KCTS

T-Worx integrates IXI Drone Killer into its intelligent rifle operating system

If you wish to add email recipients to this list or unsubscribe please send message to newsletter@unmannedairspace.info
For all editorial matters please contact the editor, Philip Butterworth-Hayes on philip@unmannedairspace.info.
For advertising and sponsorship please contact Kay Rolland at Kay.rolland@gmail.com